Special Session (SS20) on:
Gender and Social Justice

Organiser:

Saraswati Raju - Professor in Social Geographer at the Centre for the Study of Regional, Development (CSR), Jawaharlal Nehru University, New Delhi. E-mail: saraswati_raju@hotmail.com

The aim and scope of the special session:

Development challenges cannot be successfully addressed if we constrain the potential of half of the humanity invoking issues of social justice. It is therefore that we must pay attention to deprivation and lack of access to resources and opportunities which primarily take place along gendered locations, even if at differential scales. It is with this backdrop that this Special Session on Gender and Social Justice is being proposed at the World Congress to be held by the Regional Science Academy. The intention is to view the diverse facets of interjections within the framework of gendered attributes and social justice.

We invite papers based on (but not limited to) the following themes.

Gender: Education and skills;

Gender: Livelihoods, work and employment

Gender: Poverty and economic marginalities

Gender: Agricultural ecology and environment

Gender: City and urban environment

Gender: Demographic outcomes

Gender: Health inequalities

Gender: Crimes and violence

Gender: Identity politics and representation

Participants are encouraged to submit theoretical and conceptual/empirical research, having a clearly defined methodology, expositions and substantiation. The authors should follow the general guidelines of paper submission mentioned in the website.

The papers would be evaluated by a Committee and the successful scholars would be informed accordingly.
