

Special Session on:
Megaprojects, Planning and Regional Development

Organizers

Maritza Areli Velázquez Villalpando (Chair)

Email: maritza.velazquez@cide.edu

Crucita Aurora Ken Rodríguez

Presidenta de la Mesa Directiva de la Asociación Mexicana de Ciencia Regional (AMECIDER)

Email: cruken@uqroo.edu.mx

Purpose and Scope

A megaproject is a plan of great economic and political scope, which has a technical and infrastructure base to explore geographical areas in accordance with its spatial, temporal and raw material objectives. It identifies, from the definition of its objective, the impact and the relationship that generates between society, the State and the private initiative. In Mexico, several megaprojects are being promoted that will have an impact on the dynamics, economic and social of the country's different regions. These and other projects involve a huge waste of resources at all levels of government, which is why they must be analyzed in greater depth, considering all the implications, economic, social and environmental, and it is also necessary to contribute from academia to the territorial impacts of these megaprojects on all countries with enormous inequalities, such as Latin America.

SUBMIT AN ABSTRACT