

Special Session on:
Governance, Development and Innovation to Promote Well-being

Organizers

Crucita Aurora Ken Rodríguez (Chair)

Presidenta de la Mesa Directiva de la Asociación Mexicana de Ciencia Regional (AMECIDER)

Email: cruken@uqroo.edu.mx

Christian Martínez Olivera

Email: christianolivera26@gmail.com

Purpose and Scope

Historically, governance, along with innovation, has been a catalyst for the synergistic and interdependent design and implementation of strategies to promote development and generate well-being for the population. The effectiveness of this relationship hinges on transparency, accountability, inclusion, and environmental stewardship. Therefore, considering the current societal landscape, these elements are crucial for generating studies that analyze the multidimensional effects on territories and regions, both for and against development and well-being.

SUBMIT AN ABSTRACT