

27th APDR Workshop

Higher Education Institutions and Territories: What are the connections?

June 8th, 2022 | University of Beira Interior, Covilhã, Portugal

Call for Papers

The APDR invites regional scientists, economists, economic geographers, urban planners, policy makers, and researchers of related disciplines to participate in the 27th APDR workshop that will be held in June 8th, 2022, at the University of Beira Interior, Covilhã, Portugal.

This workshop aims to develop an international forum of discussion devoted to multidimensional approaches on the role played by Higher Education Institutions on territories economic, social, cultural and environmental sustainability, as well as its impact on citizens' quality of life, especially, in low-density regions. It is developed under the U-Value Project: THE IMPACT OF HIGHER EDUCATION INSTITUTIONS ON THE QUALITY OF LIFE OF THEIR REGIONS and aims on one hand, to provide opportunity to researchers to exchange ideas and best practices on the topic, and on the other hand, to present the results of this project to several stakeholders.

The call for Papers Proposals is open and your participation is very welcome!

The scientific program will be organized around the following main topics:

- A - Higher education, quality of life and sustainability
- B - Higher education and COVID-19: implications and transformations for higher education institutions
- C - Technology and knowledge transfer in higher education
- D – Public policies for higher education
- E – Higher education institutions and entrepreneurial, innovative, and sustainable ecosystems
- F - Digital and green transition in Higher education institutions
- G - Equality and inclusion in Higher education institutions
